In the event that an Update degrades the performance and/or features of the Service and specifically affects the Client's use of the Service, Universign undertakes to maintain, within the conditions provided herein, the previous functional version of the Service, for a period of six (6) months or until a new functional Update is released.

All Updates are unilaterally decided on by Universign.

Corrective Updates

Corrective maintenance exclusively concerns the Software Package.

Universign ensures the correction of any Anomalies identified. Universign may also communicate a workaround solution for Anomalies identified by the Client. The Anomaly must be indicated to Universign with enough information for the latter to take action.

Unless otherwise stated in the Purchase Order, the subscription to a Service is invoiced in arrears at the end of each month.

The price will be revised annually, with the increased rate nevertheless being limited to one times the variation of the Syntec index, it being understood that the variation of the Syntec index taken into consideration will be that observed over the entire period since the last price revision applied by Universign.

In accordance with Article 1167 of the French Civil Code, in the event that the index considered is no longer available, the Parties will use the nearest equivalent index. The calculation of the price will therefore be carried out based on the replacement index, using the necessary correlation coefficient.

In the event of any dispute regarding the application of the new index, express jurisdiction is attributed to the Presiding Judge of the Commercial Court of Paris.

ARTICLE 10 – LIABILITY

Universign undertakes to take all reasonable care possible in the performance of the Services, in accordance with the rules of its profession and in partnership with the Client, but may only be held to an obligation of means with regard to the latter. Universign may not be held liable for any damages other than those directly resulting from a fault in the performance of the Service ordered.

Universign may not be held liable for any use of the Service which does not comply with the GCU and SCU, nor in the case of any ill-considered application or lack of application of the instructions for use provided for support, or of any advice not issued by Universign itself.

Universign will be released from liability should any inability to access the Services arise as a result of an event outside of its control.

Should Universign's liability be retained, for whatever reason and regardless of the legal basis invoked or retained, all combined damages will be limited to the amount excluding tax paid by the Client in return for the Service in question over the 12 (twelve) months preceding the cause of the damage.

ARTICLE 11 – INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

The Parties declare that they hold all intellectual rights, including copyright, rights over designs and models, and rights on patents and trademarks, allowing for the conclusion and performance of the Contract.

Each Party shall remain the owner of all of their intellectual property rights, or any other rights, for the elements used by the other Party as part of the Contract: for example, logos, trademarks or any distinctive signs of either Party, without the right to make any changes or adaptation without the express consent of the owning Party.

The Contract does not transfer any of these rights from one Party to the other.

However, each Party grants the other Party a non-transferrable and non-exclusive right for the personal use of all elements which they deem necessary or useful, solely for the performance of the Contract, including the provision and performance of the Service, for the duration hereof.

Universign guarantees that it is the holder of all intellectual property rights for the Service, and retains the intellectual property rights for the Software Package. The Service, backups and the associated API and Documentation, subject to the provisions of the French Intellectual Property Code, shall remain the property of Universign. The Client undertakes not to directly or indirectly infringe on Universign's rights.

With regard to authorised users and any external person who may have access to the Platform, the Client undertakes to ensure all necessary measures to ensure the secrecy and the respect of the property rights over said Software Package.

The Client undertakes in particular to take all measures to ensure that their staff do not retain any documentation or reproduction of the Software Package outside of their production site.

The rights granted to the Client under the Contract exclusively extend to a right of use for the Service and for the associated Documentation and API, for the duration of the Contract. The granting of this right of use for the Service provided under the Contract will not give rise to any transfer of property rights;

Universign authorises the Client to partially or fully replicate the Documentation, adding any changes if necessary, and to distribute it to their departments, in accordance with the French Intellectual Property Code. The modifications added by the Client to the Documentation will fall under the latter's liability.

ARTICLE 12 – INFRINGEMENT GUARANTEE

In the event of any claim of infringement of an intellectual property right by the Software Package, Universign may, at its own choice and its own expense, either replace or modify the entirety or any part of the Software Package, or obtain a use licence for the Client in order to allow them to continue to use the Service, as long as the Client has complied with the following conditions:

- That the Client has accepted and performed all their obligations hereunder;
- That the Client has notified Universign in writing, within eight days, of the infringement action or declaration preceding said action;
- That Universign is able to ensure the defence of its own interests and those of the Client, and to do so, that the Client loyally collaborates with Universign in providing all elements, information and support necessary to carry out such defence.

In the event that none of these measures are reasonably possible, Universign may unilaterally decide to end the Contract and reimburse the Client any fees paid under the Contract.

The provisions of this article define all of Universign's obligations with regard to patent or copyright infringement as a result of the Service's use.

ARTICLE 13 – TERMINATION

In the event of non-compliance by the Client of their obligations as provided for herein, Universign may terminate the service as of right and without any particular formality, if the Client does not remedy the breach within a period of thirty (30) days from the date of issue of the notification delivered in writing by Universign.

After notification of termination, the Client's user account will remain accessible until the last day of the month following the receipt of the termination's effective date. However, no transaction (Electronic Seal, Electronic Signature, Timestamping, etc.) may be created after the effective date of the Service's termination, with the Client account remaining accessible only for the purposes of consultation. Transactions in progress on the effective date of the Service's termination will be cancelled.

The subscription to the Service will be invoiced until the end of the month following notification of its termination.

Termination may not give rise to any reimbursement of sums collected by Universign, nor to the payment of any compensation.

ARTICLE 14 – CONFIDENTIALITY

Under the terms hereof, it is expressly agreed that the following is strictly confidential: any information regarding the Parties, their members, subscribers, staff, suppliers, equipment, operating mode and/or their organisation; or any other information which may be linked to their activity and which may be transmitted by any means, by the Parties as part of or with a view to Universign's performance of the Service in application of this Contract, or which the Parties become aware of during the course of this Contract.

This obligation for the Parties shall not apply to information whose disclosure has been authorised by the other Party.

It is specified that the Contract, its annexes and its amendments are also confidential and may not be communicated to third parties without the agreement of the Parties, with express exceptions made for disclosure obligations to which Universign may be held under their legal obligations or as part of legal proceedings, and for any situations necessary for the proper performance of the Contract by the Parties.

ARTICLE 15 – LEGAL COMPLIANCE

Universign complies with the French and European regulations applicable to it as a trust service provider. Universign is not obliged to assume the Client's legal and administrative obligations, including those relating to the Services provided as part of the Contract.

It is the responsibility of the Client to ensure compliance with the law and the regulations concerning them, without any right to invoke Universign's liability.

The use of said Service by Signatories who are not located within the country in which the Client has indicated their domicile, although not expressly prohibited as long as the contractual provisions are respected, will not in any case allow the Client to avail itself of their rights outside of the European Union.

In application of the decision (EU) 2015/115 of the European Commission of 8 September 2015, the qualifications and certifications of the trust services provided by Universign may be accessed from the address <https://webgate.ec.europa.eu/tl-browser/#/> (European Commission publication website).

Force Majeure: In the event of a case of force majeure, in the usual sense as understood by the case law of French courts, neither Party may be held liable for a breach of one of its contractual obligations. The Party invoking the force majeure clause must inform the other party as soon as possible, via the delivery of a registered letter with acknowledgment of receipt. This letter must include a brief description of the event presenting the characteristics of the case of force majeure, as well as an estimation of its duration, and should inform the other Party of the foreseeable consequences of this case of force majeure for the Contract's performance.

The performance of the contract will initially be suspended for a period of fifteen (15) days.

If the duration of force majeure continues beyond this period, each Party may automatically terminate the Contract by registered letter with acknowledgement of receipt. This termination will take effect fifteen (15) days after its receipt.

Any services not carried out, as a result of a case of force majeure or any unforeseeable event, will not give rise to the right for payment.

Partial nullity: The declaration of the nullity or ineffectiveness of any Contract stipulation will not automatically result in the nullity or ineffectiveness of the other stipulations, unless the balance of the contract has been modified as a result.

Parties' commitments: The Parties agree that the approval of the Purchase Order, the conclusion and the renewal of the Contract, and the payment of fees and/or invoices issued imply that the Client has read and accepted the General Conditions in force on the date of this approval, conclusion, renewal or payment. The Client is informed that these General Conditions are accessible from the Website, in accordance with Articles 1125 and 1127-1 of the French Civil Code.

Previous versions of the General Conditions are also available on the Website. The Parties agree that these are made available for information purposes only and do not imply any applicability for these previous versions.

Transfer, subrogation and substitution: The Contract may not be subject to any total or partial transfer, in any event, whether for payment or free on the part of the Client, without the written, express and prior agreement of Universign.

Non-waiver: The fact that either Party does not avail itself of a breach by the other Party of any of the obligations referred to herein may not be interpreted as a waiver of the obligation in question in the future. The Client irrevocably waives any request, claim, right or action against Universign with regard to the performance of the Contract which is formed more than twelve (12) months after the fact, and as such, irrevocably waives the right to initiate any legal proceedings against Universign on these grounds.

- Level 1 Electronic Signature

Universign cannot guarantee the identity of the signatory or their authorisations in the implementation of the level 1 Electronic Signature. The identification of the signatory is the responsibility of the Client, via their own specific organisational and technical processes, with the only elements of Identification being those which they communicate. Consequently, the Client is responsible for ensuring the identity of the signatory, by their own means and under their own liability. The identification information which appears above the Electronic Signature is that transmitted to Universign by the Client.
